ON THE ANGRY LAKES.

WAY back here on the Pacific coast one is apt to forget the existence of the vast inland seas that serve to link the commerce of the east and northwest, but the disasters of this week will fix the importance of the Great Lakes in the minds of every newspaper reader. Not since the days of the Lady Elgin, when that vessel sank within sight of Milwaukee harbor with some hundreds of passengers, has such a death toll been exacted from the traffic as recorded in the past few days. The tragic chapter of shipping is emphasized by the total absence of distress signals. The significant S.O.S. was not flashed across the dark storm-rent waters as the helpless crews battled with icy blasts and mountainous waves that finally engulfed them. The lesson is obvious. The law governing transportation on the lakes should be as rigid as the laws applying to the mariner on the broad waters of the Atlantic and Pacific. The land-bound seas of the middle states are not placid ponds that may be navigated without ordinary precautions, and the companies with capital invested in shipping should see the necessity for the adoption of preventive measures suitable for just such emergencies. Had the steamers been equipped with wireless they might have been saved, or their crews would have had a fighting chance against the approach of an awful death. Lives might have been spared, even if property were sacrificed. Nothing was done, and nothing could be done, but to drive before the gathering gale and take chances on a lee shore. Eight score of lives were swallowed by the angry waters and the waves closed over their graves without leaving a soul to tell the tale of the struggle against impending doom.

The question of protection is a vital one at this time, when interior steamship interests are making a strenuous fight against the enactment of laws providing that lake vessels should be equipped as fully as ocean-going craft. The death toll furnishes an unanswerable argument in favor of the contention of the Sailors' union asking for the enforcement of ocean navigation regulations on lake craft. Like other protective measures, it is urged by vessel owners that the requirement of lifeboats equal to the carrying capacity of the steamers should not be enforced. The case of the Christopher Columbus is cited. This is an excursion steamer running between Chicago and Milwaukee, with a carrying capacity of 4000 passengers. Opponents of life-saving regulations say such vessels would be driven out of business if they had to carry sufficient life-saving appliances to insure safety of their living cargo. Why not? The leviathans of New York and San Francisco engaged in the same business have to comply with this law, and there should not be any exceptions.

The lakes are more perilous than the oceans, for mariners are always subject to the dangers of collision and a lee shore in the comparatively cramped quarters where they ply. The subject will undoubtedly be taken up by the next congress and proper safeguards prescribed for the steamships comprising three-fourths of the entire tonnage carrying the American flag.

Wildes, receiver of the bankrupt banks of Nevada, has gone to Honolulu for a jaunt at the expense of the depositors, who have paid for the receiver's outings for the last three years. During that time Wildes has virtually been absent from Carson City, enjoying himself and living high, while he taxes the banks with the salary of an assistant who does the work which the receiver is supposed to do. This is quite a transition from an humble clerkship at $137 a month.

The University of Nevada "Sagebrush" boasts of an editor-in-chief and ten associate editors. Not a single reporter. And the contents of the paper looks it.

The voters of Elko county are too wise to be fooled by attacks on Newlands, screams the Elko Independent. They are. Newlands will not fool them again.

The Bonanza goat is tied up in the front yard of the high school. One of the teachers sent down for a list of Wilson's cabinet officers. Some forgetful friend had borrowed the blue book and there was not a member of the staff who could supply the list from memory. Try it yourself.

PALISADE ROAD IS TAKEN BY THE WESTERN

REPORT THAT THE LINE FROM EUREKA WILL BE BROAD-GAUGED.

It is pretty well authenticated and generally believed that the Western Pacific has taken over the Eureka & Palisade railroad, and that it will immediately begin the rebuilding and widening of the old narrow gauge.

The old road as it now stands is almost unfit for business and for a long time its rolling stock has been so decrepit that it has been unable to handle the limited amount of freight that has been awarded it. The road is 84 miles long and passes through a wonderfully rich country, and run on business principles should become a great factor in the upbuilding of Eureka county.

It has been stated that if the old road had been in good condition it could have been supplied with daily shipments of ore from the old mines of Eureka to the amount of a thousand tons a day, but because of the management refusing to prepare for the freight it could not be handled. There are a number of big low-grade lead and silver mines in Eureka that will produce ore of a value of $9 a ton, and estimates made of the amount place it at over a million tons. This is all above the water level. What is below that, and what its value is, is a matter of conjecture, but the old-timers of Eureka candidly believe that if the mine could be unwatered the ore taken out and shipped at reasonable rates, Eureka would again come into the limelight and reassume the position it held back in the seventies.

TARIFF CLOSES SUGAR MILL IN CALIFORNIA

The tariff has placed the Sacramento Valley Sugar company's plant at Hamilton City out of commission and the plant has been shut down for good. The beet fields will be planted to grain hereafter. It is understood that the mules and live stock not needed in the barley fields will be shipped to Hawaii to be placed in the sugar fields there.

Lung Trouble Yielded to This Medicine

If you are suffering with Lung Trouble, or if you know of some unfortunate person so afflicted, would you take the trouble of fully investigating a medicine which has brought about complete recovery in a number of very serious cases? To Eckman's Alternative, a remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles, has been given the fullest credit of restoring health in a large number of cases. Read this:

5322 Girard Ave., Phila., Pa.
"Gentlemen: In the winter of 1903 I had an attack of grippe, followed by pneumonia and later by consumption. In the winter of 1904 I had a cough, night sweats, fever and raised quantities of awful looking stuff and later I had many hemorrhages at one time three in three successive days. Milk and eggs became so distasteful I could keep nothing down. Three physicians treated me, I was ordered to the mountains, but did not go. Eckman's Alternative was recommended by a friend. After taking a small quantity I had the first quiet night's sleep for weeks. My improvement was marked from the first. I gained strength and weight and appetite. I never had another hemorrhage and my cough gradually lessened until entirely gone. I am perfectly well."
Eckman's Alternative has been proven by many years' test to be most efficacious in cases of severe throat and lung affections, bronchitis, bronchial asthma, stubborn colds and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain narcotics, poisons, or habit-forming drugs. For sale by leading druggists. Write the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries and additional evidence.

TRY THIS TONIC

IT BUILDS RICH, RED BLOOD

If you are in a run-down condition—easily tired and exhausted—it denotes a weakness. This may be due to a lack of proper nourishment. Perhaps the proper food is not taken, or that the revitalizing elements of what you eat are not properly assimilated. In either case our will work a speedy change in your condition. This remedy contains potash, lime, iron and phosphorus in just the quantity and proportion that the system needs. These are combined with vegetable tonics that make it pleasant to take. It makes rich blood, strong nerves and rapidly increases weight. If you need a tonic, start the use of this one now.
